WANT MONEY FOR MILITIA

General Public Asked to Aid the Chamber of Commerce.

An appeal to the people to keep up the Territorial militia has been issued by the Chamber of Commerce. It is the idea that all of the people shall participate in this movement, all who desire to do so, and to that end the subscription has been opened and no contribution, however small, will be refused. In fact, small contributions will be especially welcomed, as the desire of the Chamber of Commerce is to have as many people as possible interested in the movement. The appeal follows:

HONOLULU CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,

Stangenwald Building.

Honolulu, T. H., June 22, 1905.

To our Fellow Citizens: The Legislature of 1905 failed to make any appropriation for the support of the Territorial Militia for the ensuing biennial period.

The Chamber of Commerce has met to consider the unfortunate situation thus brought about and, pursuant to resolution, its President has appointed the undersigned committee to open a public subscription for funds sufficient to maintain the National Guard in a state of efficiency for the two years beginning July 1, 1905.

The United States Government provides necessary arms and equipment up to the value of $7,500.00 per annum, but it is estimated by the officers of the Guard that the sum of at least $2,800.00 a year is further necessary for its maintenance. This money will be used for barrack and encampment disbursements, including sustenance, supplies, transportation, and other ordinary expenses.

We have arranged with the banking house of Bishop & Co. to receive, acknowledge, and hold, subject to the disposition of the Chamber of Commerce any and all subscriptions to a voluntary offering by the people.

The National Guard is made up of our own volunteer citizens, who serve without pay, and it is devoted to the safeguarding of the Islands of Hawaii from domestic violence and invasion; and in time of war, becomes available with similar organizations throughout every State and Territory of the Union as a part of the illustrious American army.

May we not ask that our people who love peace and who stand for law and order, will, for the honor of Hawaii, contribute as they are able to this necessary and worthy cause?

Single subscriptions from twenty-five cents upward will be thankfully received and acknowledged and we trust that the response from individuals and from organized bodies will be generous and show that all our people believe in maintaining at its present high standard of efficiency the National Guard of the Territory.

If this be done, future legislatures will so provide for its maintenance that popular subscriptions need not again be solicited for its support.

Those who may desire to subscribe will please deposit with, or remit by check, registered letter, or postal money order, to Bishop & Co., Honolulu, stating that the same is for the "Militia Fund;" or subscriptions may be sent in care of any Honolulu newspaper which will gladly give public acknowledgment of the gift.

Respectfully,
L. TENNEY PECK,
F. M. SWANZY,
ALEXANDER GARVIE.
Committee of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce.

FORT REPELS FLEET IN SHAM BATTLE

FORT MONROE (Va.), June 12.—Admiral Dickinson's fleet took advantage of the unfavorable weather conditions and attacked the fortifications at Fort Monroe at 2:15 o'clock this morning. The attack lasted until shortly after 3 o'clock. The rapid-fire guns on the vessels were used and the batteries on shore made a lively response. The Texas, Hartford, and Hornet attempted to run by the forts at 2:20 a. m., but the firing from the batteries put them out of commission.

BALTIMORE (Md.), June 12.—In an extra edition the American gives the following account of the attack on Fort Howard:

Admiral Dickinson did the unexpected thing by making an early morning attack on Fort Howard and the other local fortifications, and three torpedo-boat destroyers were theoretically blown out of the water by the artillerymen stationed at Fort Howard. Two of these answered the description of the Worden and Whipple, while the third was either the McDonough, Stuart or Lawrence.

Promptly at midnight scout boats were sent out from the local fortifications. At 12:50 o'clock these boats signalled the artillerymen at Fort Howard that the "enemy" were approaching, and all the men at the fort were immediately called to the guns.

Almost simultaneously the men were warned of the approach of the boats by the signals at Sandy point.

The searchlights at North Howard, Selwood, Armistead and Carroll were headed down the river, and very soon a destroyer resembling the Worden was detected coming up the river at full speed. Five minutes after receiving the first signals the men at Fort Howard opened fire on the approaching destroyer with rapid-fire and short-range guns. While the Worden was theoretically blown up, she proceeded past Fort Howard and on up the river. The other forts immediately got their guns into action and all took turns in shooting at the approaching "enemy."

About fifteen minutes after the approach of the first of the "enemy's" fleet another destroyer, evidently the Whipple, was discovered. This vessel suffered the same fate as the first. The third destroyer made its appearance, and, like the other two, was "sunk."

The first boats endeavored to run by the forts without making any demonstration, but the one in the lead was soon put out of commission by striking a mine. This was signified by ringing a bell in Fort Howard.

The third boat, though put out of commission, opened fire on all four of the forts, and the sight was a most interesting and exciting one. Broad-sides were fired by the third destroyer when it reached a point between Forts Armistead and Carroll. No lights were used on any of the boats and the fire from the guns was an imposing sight.

It is believed the destroyers were sent on ahead of the rest of the fleet to get the range of the forts, draw the fire and ascertain whether the men were at their guns.

Later, a fourth destroyer was discovered and "sunk." Then the battleship Texas made a frontal demonstration and from a seven-foot knoll fired her big and little guns at Fort Howard. While the Texas was making this demonstration, a swift cruiser made a flank movement and went up the bay toward Poole's Island. It was discovered in the nick of time by the men at Fort Howard, who fired on the ship. The fire was returned, and after a lively skirmish the gunners at the fort theoretically sent both the Texas and the cruiser to the bottom.

After the ineffectual attack upon Fort Howard, the "enemy," as the attacking vessels are known, withdrew and steamed down Chesapeake bay to join the rest of Admiral Dickinson's squadron, off Sandy Hook.

The attack this morning will not cause the local garrisons to relax the vigor of their watch, as there is nothing to prevent Admiral Dickinson attacking the city again.

The garrison sleeps at the guns, one-third of the troops being at the guns all the time, while the remainder rest in tents that have been built close to the guns. At the least alarm the "call to arms" is sounded and every man rushes to his post. Colonel Frank Thorpe and all the officers remain at the guns, the same as the men. All meals are served at the emplacements of the guns.
